	Why volunteer Because volunteers are brilliant! They are also vital to Possability People. Without them, we couldn't provide services to the high standard that we do. Volunteers support all aspects of our work, often sharing their lived experience of being a disabled person for the good of the whole organisation. We have a range of accessible volunteer roles across all of our services and we encourage other organisations to provide accessible volunteer places too. Just because someone is disabled, it doesn't mean they only want to volunteer for a disability organisation. We believe volunteering should be available on an equal and accessible basis and have an increased number of opportunities for disabled people to volunteer. Not all our volunteers are disabled people. People come to us for lots of different reasons. Some people want to practice being in a work environment before going for jobs, while others want to make friends and get out of the house, and others want to give something back. In return, we support them to learn and develop, offer training, and organise social events for some fun. Lots of our volunteers go on to find paid work, while some enjoy their role and stay with us for a long time.

At Survivors' Network, we view people accessing our services as survivors, rather than victims. This does not ignore an individual's experience of victimhood, but rather defines the basis upon which we begin all interactions with service users.

Our vision: Uniting to confront sexual violence, abuse and harassment so that no one has to face the impacts alone

Our mission:

- Delivering accessible, survivor-centred services across Sussex
- Empowering our communities to stand up against sexual violence, abuse and harassment through education, training and campaigning
- Demonstrating and advocating for intersectional feminist leadership

VOLUNTEER AND MAKE A DIFFERENCE

From Turning Tides' small beginnings of the first Soup Run, to our first hostel, to our Community Hubs, volunteers have been at the heart of our charity, driving the community response to homelessness.

Every day Turning Tides' volunteers generously give their time to help people who have been affected by homelessness. Our volunteers engage in a variety of roles from cooking breakfast at our hubs, befriending, supporting our office teams and helping at community events to raise much needed vital funds.

Volunteering at Turning Tides is like a partnership. A volunteer gives generously of their time and skills and we aim to make their volunteering experience rewarding and fulfilling. We are so proud to have won the Queen's Award for Volunteering, which represents the passion and dedication of our wonderful volunteers.

Our volunteers will meet new people, volunteer is a friendly environment and know that they are truly making a difference to the lives of the clients that we support.

LIFELINES

LifeLines is a volunteer-led project supporting people aged 50 and over in Brighton. LifeLines runs activities and one-to-one support schemes to help older people stay more active and better engaged with their communities. They recruit, train and support volunteers to start up their own chosen activities at a suitable venue – and have supported activities from computer lessons and ballroom dancing through to bereavement counselling.

Through these volunteer-led projects, older volunteers experience reduced loneliness and isolation, become more physically active and leave their home more, socialising more and making new friends with people of all ages. Many volunteers on the project have called LifeLines their lifeline, especially those who volunteered after losing a loved one. We also have opportunities for volunteers to work one to one with older people to help them get out more (Activity Partners) or improve their IT skills (LifeLines Connections).
