

History

Higher Education at BHASVIC 2019

In Sept 2019, 42 BHASVIC students went onto study History degrees at 27 different universities

It is regularly in the top two subjects our students go onto study at university.

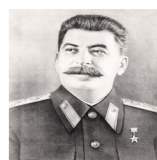

Students can study A level History (Modern) or choose A level (Medieval and Early Modern).

Should I study History at degree level?

As a humanities subject, there are about 9 hours of contact time per week, with a mix of lectures and seminars. Content varies over the optional modules, but is usually challenging and engaging.

History is a course where independent drive is key. With just 6 to 10 contact hours a week, a lot of reading and writing is done whenever you feel best working. History is varied with a choice in modules.

Types of History degree

- You can choose to study straight History or a closely related subject, for example
- Fashion history
- Architectural history
- History of medicine
- History of advertising
- History of religion
- History of warfare
- History of science

Entry Requirements

- Subjects you need
- A-levels (or equivalent) usually required
- Most courses ask for history
- Useful to have
- Economics
- Sociology
- Politics
- English literature
- Religious studies
- Philosophy

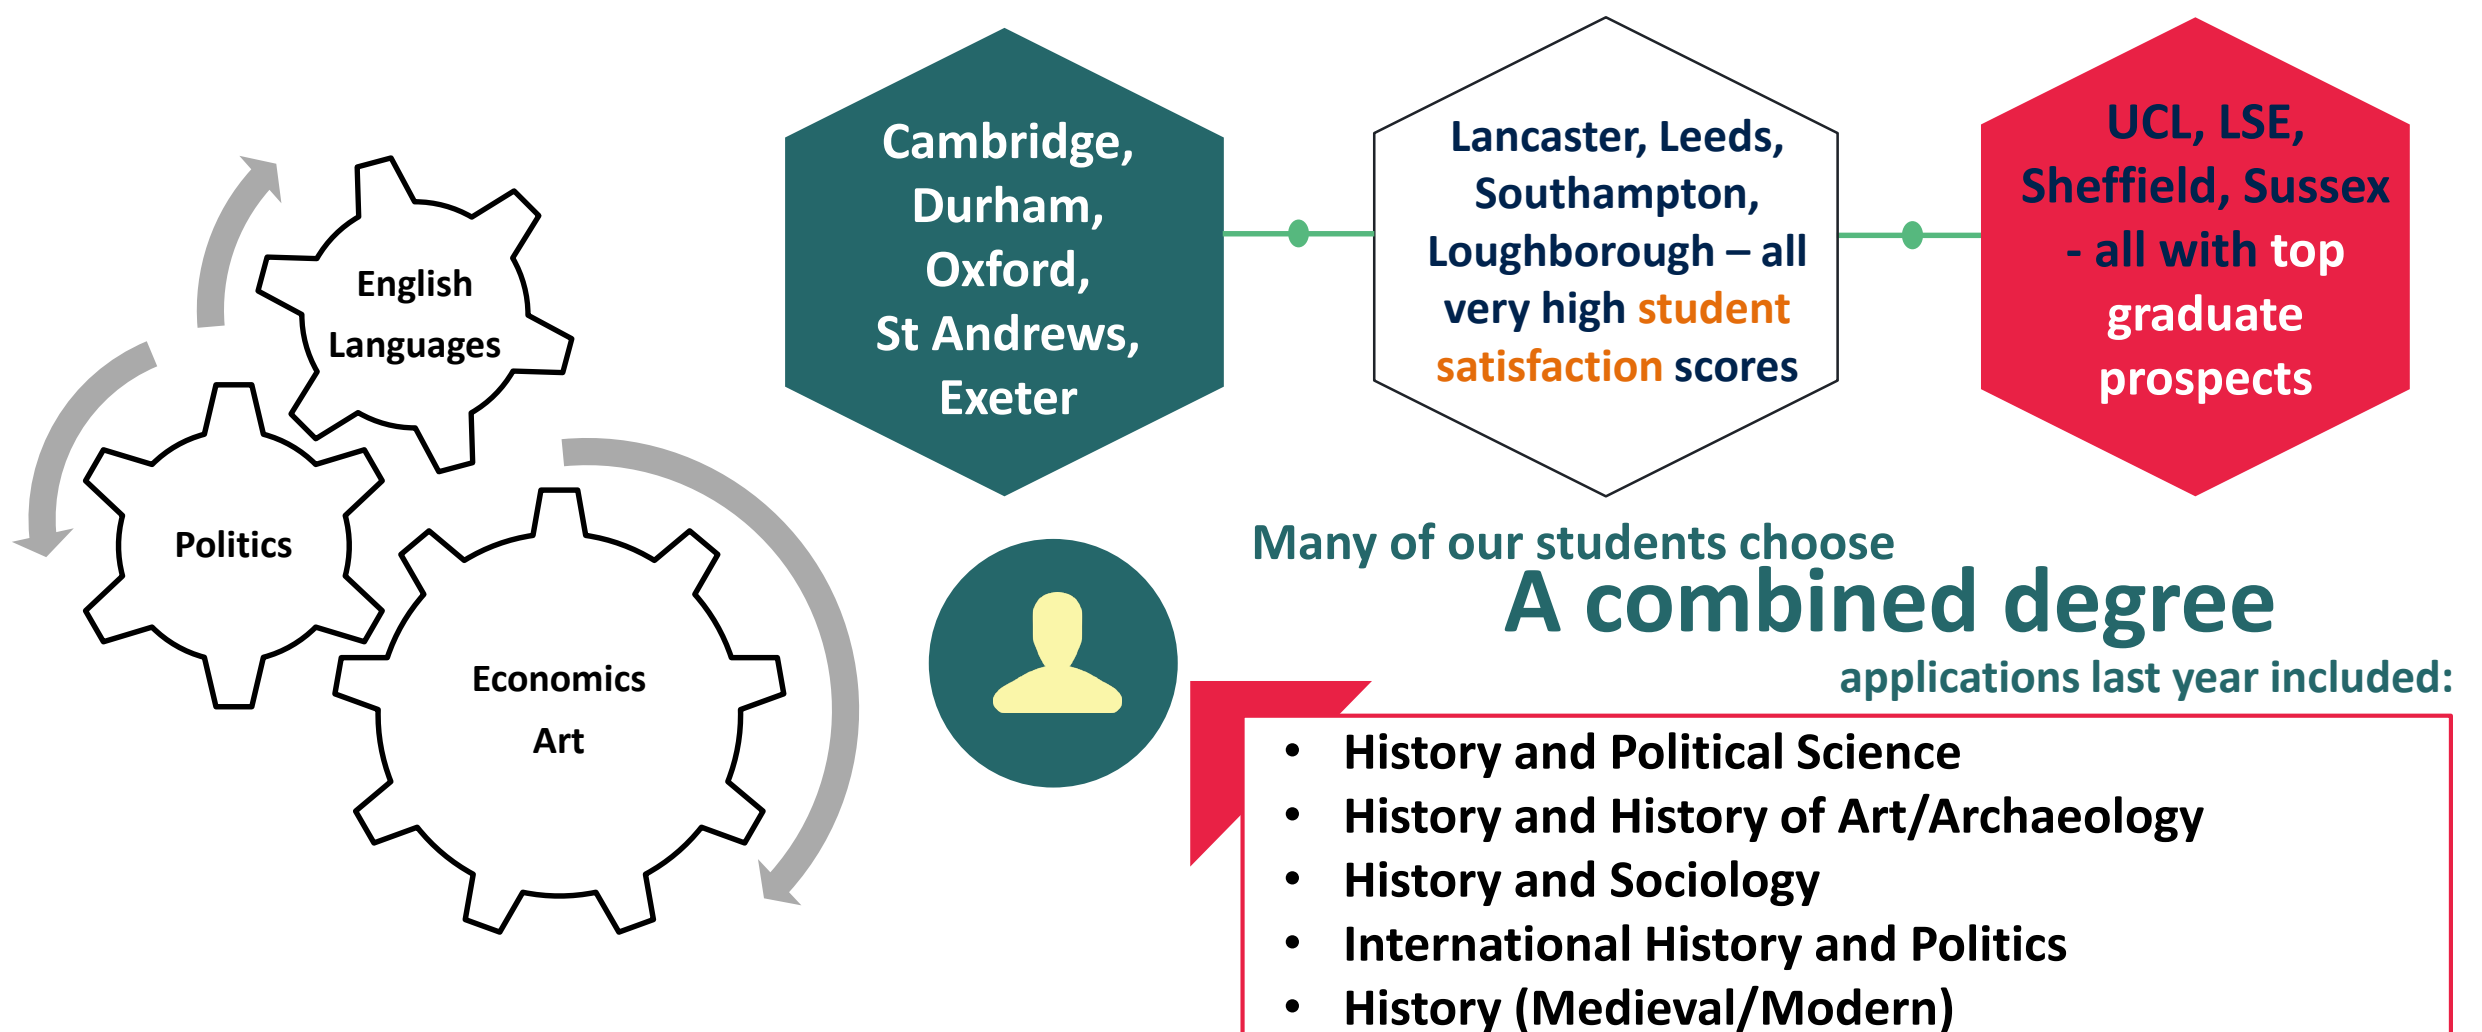

Example degree modules

- Europe in the 20th century
- Vikings
- Renaissances and reformations
- The history and culture of Ancient Greece
- Contested nation: Germany, 1871-1918
- France 1774-1794: reform and revolution
- The age of the plague: disease, medicine and society in Western Europe 1348-1665
- Growth of the USA
- Russia after Stalin

Top 10 Universities for History

Complete University Guide 2020

Why not try a foundation degree..

Chichester
CCC

A level grades
or BTEC equivalents

Brunel
BBB

SOAS
ABB

Keele (History with Humanities Foundation)
DDD

.....or study in English abroad

Modern History and International Relations University of Groningen
Netherlands