WELCOME BACK TO THE LATEST WP NEWS

Welcome to the spring edition of our newsletter. This edition is full of opportunities, events, summer schools and resources. We hope that you find these useful. The Widening Participation scheme is here to support students and their progression in whatever subject area and via whatever route (university or apprenticeships) they choose.

The Sussex Access programme is a key central hub with a range of resources so we would encourage students to sign up for this - there is no expectation that you will apply to the University of Sussex. The University of Brighton Outreach programme is equally useful and will compliment many of the subject areas offered by the University of Sussex; students are able to register for both without obligation.

Please remember our scheme is here to provide information whatever your chosen route and if you require further information, please email wpe@bhasvic.ac.uk. Also take a look at our VLE page for further careers information and opportunities.

UPDATES AT PARTNER UNIVERSITIES

Outreach Programme

Online and in-person activities are delivered by both university staff and student ambassadors. We can work with you to tailor our programme to suit your students. We are also developing more and more resources for students, parents, carers and practitioners using a variety of online platforms that allows users to work at their own pace, revisiting videos when they need.

Post-16 activities are open to all students, with priority booking for partner sixth forms and colleges, and students who are part of the University of Brighton Outreach programme.

To access pre-16 activities please contact outreach@brighton.ac.uk for more information.

Summer Schools

Our summer schools offer sixth form and college students an insight into what it's like to study a subject they love in higher education. Summer schools are free.

Summer schools are a great opportunity to find out more about the university experience from academics, students and university staff. Alongside taster sessions, students take part in a subject-specific project that could be used in their personal statements if they apply to university.

Information for applying for 2023 will be released in spring.

Other Information

BHASVIC students get contextual offers from Bristol and Exeter universities on an individual basis. Please check other university websites to see if they make contextual offers.

Being part of Widening Participation programme at BHASVIC, you may be eligible for a contextual offer from the universities that you apply to. But what is a contextual offer and how does it work?

Contextual offers or sometimes it's called contextual admissions, are defined by UCAS as 'where the university considers any barriers you may face, and will either reduce grade requirements or give extra consideration when deciding whether to give you an offer.' This can include guaranteed interviews and/or bursary funds linked to WP status. Some universities take into account whether a student has participated in their Widening Participation access programme or summer school when making a contextual offer. You will need to add this to your UCAS application and if you require further information, contact the university's admissions department directly.

Each application is considered on a case-by-case basis and takes into account your personal circumstances and this will differ from university to university and by course/subject area.

In order to find out if you fit the criteria for a contextual offer, you will need to look at each university website page that you are in applying to, or contact their admission department directly to find out more information. Usually, by applying through the normal UCAS process, your application will include information that will be assessed by the admissions teams, however some universities may require you to a separate application form whilst applying through UCAS.
